The venue

Since golf balls were first driven down its fairways in 1904, Banchory Golf Club has been attracting golfers of all calibres to test their skills on this parkland course. Set on the banks of Aberdeenshire's majestic River Dee, Banchory Golf Club is a picturesque 18-hole course that offers a challenge to golfers of all abilities.

Though not over long at 5,800 yards – don't be fooled. Strategically placed bunkers on this par 69 course, mature native trees and the 'magnetic' Dee provide obstacles to test even the most accomplished player.

From one of the shortest holes in Scottish golf, the 88-yard Doo'cot, to some of the most testing long holes, Banchory has something to offer everyone. With six par 3 holes and three par 5s, Banchory offers a fun and fair round for the regular or occasional golfer.
