

Helping you to improve your employees' financial wellbeing

LCP Financial Wellbeing Consulting

Your employees' financial lives are personal, unique, and at times can be complicated. And when those worries are brought to the workplace, it can have a huge impact on the ability for your employees (no matter their position) to get the job done and ultimately your bottom line.

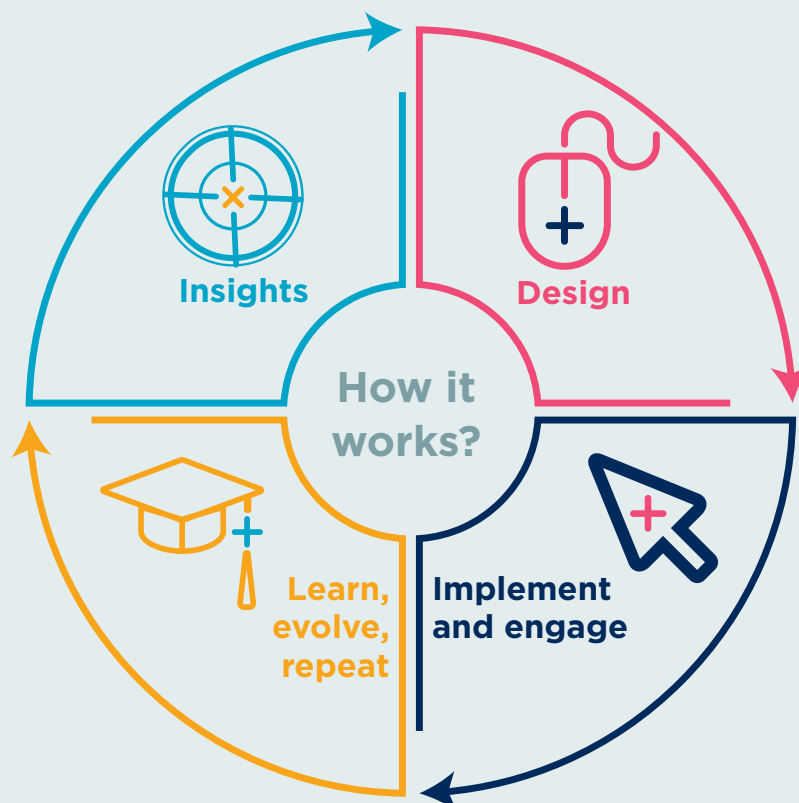

It's becoming increasingly important to consider your employees' financial wellbeing by developing a framework which balances their needs with your internal resources and corporate objectives.

But how do you know what is right? How do you avoid introducing something superficial which may actually alienate those who need it most? How do you get senior-management buy-in?

We have helped many of our corporate clients, from a range of industries, to improve the financial wellbeing of even the most diverse employee base. Our insights, tools and experience mean we can work with you to design and implement framework which supports your employees' financial wellbeing.

We will deliver a bespoke solution that is employee-centric, designed to improve their financial outcomes and minimise potential risks whilst demonstrating value for money for your organisation.

Get an insight into the financial issues of your unique employees by analysing employee data and feedback.

Use the insights to design benefits to improve employees' financial wellbeing by addressing these issues.

Implement and engage with employees by successfully launching the new programme with effective engagement campaigns and smooth roll out of new services.

Continue to monitor employee behaviour and seek feedback to understand what can be learned and improved.

Why LCP?

We love data

We believe mathematical modelling and analytics can unlock the unlimited potential of everything. Data-led decision making makes sense and allows organisations to consider all the options and not take a leap of faith.

We are influencers

Using our independence, we've set about disrupting the market and stretching the capabilities of what it can offer. Providers are seeing where we're taking our clients with their financial wellbeing strategy and reacting to what we're doing, quickly. Unlike a lot of the market, we are not tied to any providers or products, meaning we are free to recommend the best solutions for you and have no conflicting incentives.

Bespoke solutions

No one size fits all, we will only recommend what is right for your organisation and your employees based on the analysis. We don't follow the pack. With industry boundaries becoming blurred, every employer is truly unique.

We understand people

Data alone does not always hold the answers which is why we understand the importance of learning from the real people. We're experts in listening to employees and getting unrivaled information.

Ongoing consulting

Financial wellbeing isn't a one-off project but an ongoing shift change in the way companies look after their employees - it must continually evolve to stay relevant.

Goal-driven, networked team

We've got a diverse, highly experienced team with the right blend of skills, driven by an ethos of constant learning, evolution and improvement.

Your employees' financial lives are personal, unique, and at times can be complicated. And when those worries are brought to the workplace, it can have a huge impact on the ability for your employees (no matter their position) to get the job done and ultimately your bottom line.
